PRESS RELEASE
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

(Kingston, NY) Path 11 Productions LLC is pleased to announce the release of The Path: Evolution, the third and final chapter in The Path Trilogy documentary series. The Trilogy investigates topics about out-of-body experiences, multiple-dimensions, remote viewing, psychic ability and the evolution of consciousness. The Path: Evolution, is produced by April Hannah and directed by Michael Habernig both natives of upstate NY.

The Path: Evolution explores the theory that human beings are living in a virtual reality system similar to the rules of an assimilated video game. The film briefly discusses the societal fears of the Mayan calendar ending in 2012, and delves into the importance of humans moving more towards a state of love and cooperation as a vital part of life in order for consciousness to evolve. The filmmakers follow former NASA nuclear physicist, Thomas Campbell as he shares his knowledge and the results of his research via hundreds of YouTube presentations and his trilogy, My Big TOE. Campbell derives the unified fundamentals of consciousness, physics, metaphysics and morality, to explain mind and matter, normal and paranormal, life, death, and purpose, with all of this logically flowing from the concept of reality as information. Out-of-body expert William Buhlman, remote viewer and former President of The Monroe Institute (TMI) Skip Atwater & former Executive Director of TMI Paul Rademacher, join the conversation in the third film that covers a 7 year span from 2008 to 2015.

The Path: Evolution will undoubtedly challenge the viewer's current belief systems and leave a lasting impression on human beings to re-evaluate how they are behaving, treating others and existing in the world. This film will also create a high level of curiosity for the viewer to investigate the idea that there are different states of consciousness the human can explore if they can detach from the identity of being in the physical body.

"It has been a long 8 year journey since we started filming the trilogy. I believe this project has helped change not only our lives, but hundreds and possibly thousands of other people lives by watching our experts explain the concepts of consciousness and teaching people ways to remove their fears, drop their belief systems and explore the concept that we as humans are more than our physical body" says April Hannah, producer.

"Each film was meant to be able to stand on its own. But now watching the trilogy as a whole, it now has new meaning as one dynamic film with interwoven footage over the course of 7 years" explains Michael Habernig, the film's director.

The Path: Evolution is now on sale for DVD or on-line streaming exclusively at www.thepathseries.com, along with bonus material of deleted scenes and extended interviews.

SYNOPSIS FOR THE PATH TRILOGY

The Path Trilogy is a 3 part documentary series taking the viewer on the same path, director Michael Habernig went on when he began questioning his existence on earth. Film 1, The Path: Afterlife investigates the big questions of life, what happens when we die, is there life after death, is there proof we are more than our physical bodies? After finding the answers to these questions, one will then ask, how do I get outside of my physical body to explore these spiritual realms and multiple dimensions in the universe? Film 2, The Path: Beyond the Physical moves forward with this investigation and researches findings of the out-of-body experience, multiple dimensions and remote viewing. Film 3, The Path: Evolution then asks the question, what do we now do with the information that there are many dimensions to be explored in the universe and how do we evolve our consciousness with this knowledge? The Path Evolution film explores the theory that human beings are living in a virtual reality system similar to the rules of an assimilated video game. The film briefly discusses the societal fears of the Mayan calendar ending in 2012, and delves into the importance of humans moving more towards a state of love and cooperation as a vital part of life in order for consciousness to evolve.

SYNOPSIS LONG THE PATH EVOLUTION

The Path: Evolution documentary discusses how the collective human consciousness has been and will always be evolving through human behavior. The film explores the theory that human beings are living in a virtual reality system similar to the rules of an assimilated video game. Depending upon how you play the game you will either evolve or de-evolve your consciousness. Excerpts taken from the early work and investigations of Robert Monroe's explorer series from the late 1970's are included in this film and almost 40 years later experts in the field of consciousness are still saying the same thing and that is that everything comes back to being love. The film briefly discusses the societal fears of the Mayan calendar ending in 2012, and delves into the importance of humans moving more towards a state of love and cooperation as a vital part of life in order for consciousness to evolve.

The Path: Evolution is the third film of The Path Series trilogy and picks up right where The Path: Beyond the Physical leaves off and answers the questions, what is the point of being in a physical body, how has consciousness evolved over the centuries and where is the human collective consciousness going from here? The filmmakers follow retired NASA nuclear physicist, Thomas Campbell, as he shares his knowledge and the results of his research via hundreds of YouTube presentations and his trilogy, My Big TOE. Campbell derives the unified fundamentals of consciousness, physics, metaphysics and morality, to explain mind and matter, normal and paranormal, life, death, and purpose, with all of this logically flowing from the concept of reality as information. Out-of-body expert William Buhlman, remote viewer and former President of The Monroe Institute (TMI) Skip Atwater & former Executive Director of TMI Paul Rademacher, join the conversation as well in footage covering a 7 year span from 2008 to 2015. The Path: Evolution will undoubtedly challenge the viewer's current belief systems and leave a lasting impression on human beings to re-evaluate how they are behaving, treating others and existing in the world. This film will also create a high level of curiosity for the viewer to investigate the idea that there are different states of consciousness the human can explore if they can detach from the identity of being in the physical body.

FILMMAKER FAQs

What was your inspiration for the film?

There were a large number of deaths in a very short period of time of friends, family members, and pets in a year and a half that triggered Michael Habernig into a deep study and investigation of what happens to people after they die. Following a deep depression with having visited a funeral parlor and attending a dozen or so wakes, Habernig began to explore the concept of life after death.

It was late May of 2007 when Michael saw “The Secret” documentary, which then led him to view another documentary called “What the Bleep?” He was really interested in Quantum physics and scientific proof of energy even though he didn’t know much about Quantum physics. Michael began conducting Google searches for quantum physics in relation to afterlife, spirits, proof of God etc. He watched a bunch of YouTube clips from other documentaries, seminars from Wayne Dyer, Fred Alan Wolf, Gregg Braden and by “accident” he stumbled upon a few interviews from Albert Taylor, William Buhlman and Thomas Campbell. All of these experts in the field were very different types of people from different parts of the country, but all of them had the same out-of-body experience (OBE). He found that intriguing and began researching more on Astral Projection and OBE. These searches led him to find more information on remote viewing, multiple dimensions and past life regressions. He watched several more seminars from Brian Weiss and Michael Newton which then led into the realm of spirit guides, angels and the higher self and lastly healing.

In the fall of 2007, Michael was thinking back to everything he had been learning and thought to himself, “Why didn’t I learn this stuff years ago?” So he began to feel pulled in the direction to create a film about death, and reincarnation. He began to search locally for hypnotherapists, people who could astral project, healers and those knowledgeable about quantum physics. He found two people in November of 2007 that could be potential people to contact to begin the documentary; a hypnotherapist in Massachusetts and a Holistic practitioner in Leeds, NY.

He began to second guess his idea of creating a documentary and had a lot of doubt about the success of the project. Was it feasible? Would anyone care? How was he going to find the time to complete such a project with working a full-time job and trying to run his own production business? His calendar was booked with filming and editing other projects and out of fear he decided to push this documentary off.

Eventually, Michael got caught up with his other editing projects and began to see a light at the end of the tunnel. He couldn’t shake the ideas he had in his mind about creating this documentary project and brought his ideas back into focus. So, he went back to call the two people he found locally. His first phone call was to a woman who lived only 15 minutes from his house in Leeds, NY; April Hannah who owned and operated her own private holistic healing and counseling practice. April was very excited by this opportunity and said yes to be interviewed for the documentary. Michael never made that second phone call after meeting April as he felt this was the perfect person to help him accomplish his vision. What Michael didn’t know was how fast this documentary was going to take off after he contacted April. She had many contacts in the city of Saratoga and in Kingston, NY. She offered to contact other practitioners to see if they would be interested in being interviewed. April had no idea that she was beginning to create a new position as producer for herself in this documentary. She gladly took this role and opted out of being interviewed and began calling and emailing anyone she knew in the field whom she respected and felt would contribute great knowledge to this documentary.

What’s the story behind the name of Path 11 Productions

Some interesting synchronicity began to happen after Michael and April met that made them believe even more that this project was being guided by divine intervention. April and Michael found out they were both born in the month of April, same year exactly one week apart. Another funny tid bit to add is that April’s mother always told her was that if she was a boy she was going to be named Michael. They also found out they lived 11 miles away from each other which also brings attention to the 11:11 phenomena that Michael was experiencing anytime and every time he began to think or work on the documentary. He would constantly see the number 11 over and over, catch the clock reading 1:11 or 11:11. He found out later on that his numerology number is 11 and April was born at 1:11pm. On a trip out to Alabama to interview Thomas Campbell, April’s cell phone mysteriously had 11 11 11 11 typed in the screen after they stopped for an interview in Virginia. The signs of the number 11 kept popping up which again could no longer be considered a coincidence, hence the naming of the production company became Path11.

How long did the project take?

The project took a total of 8 years. This was not the original time frame but April and Mike both agree that when you’re working on material that appears to be guided by “spirit”, “a force greater than them” it seemed to have it’s own timeline.

How were you able to fund the project?

The start of this project was personally funded by April Hannah and Michael Habernig but did not have enough funds to finish the film. A friend sent them a link to the One Minute Shift Contest sponsored by IONS, The Institute of Noetic Sciences. They put a hold on the film editing and created two one minute video with their new footage and entered the contest in the hopes to win the first place prize of $1,000. They won not only first place but viewer’s choice award. This $1,000 allowed them to continue with the editing and production of their first film The Path: Afterlife. Currently, the trilogy projects have all been funded by the by the DVD sales and rentals of The Path Trilogy films.

ABOUT THE PRODUCTION

DIRECTORS STATEMENT

It wasn't my initial intention to develop a 3 part documentary series but here we are today. I originally planned this project to be a mini documentary that highlighted the work of local energy healing practitioners in my local town, however, this project took a life of its own. This 8 year journey has been a long one and it's still hard for me to understand why these three films took so long but I believe that each film came out at the right time for the audience to hear the message. I feel as if I have personally grown through the research and interviews of the people I met along the way in documenting this information and can say that it truly helped me to release my fears about death and drop some old religious belief systems that I grew up with. My journey has only just begun.

PRODUCERS STATEMENT

I was thrilled to be contacted by Michael and help him bring his idea into fruition. It's funny to think about how this project started, as his original intention was to interview me about Reiki and my private practice. I did not feel like an expert in this material at all as I was just starting with my exploration of metaphysical healing but I had many teachers and mentors who had been in the healing profession for 20+ years. I knew nothing about film making but used my strong organizational and interpersonal skills to gather a bunch of gifted practitioners who have been studying consciousness for decades and organize this collective group to come together for interviews. We had no idea if this documentary would be successful; we just followed our hearts, had fun and made a documentary series in the process. It's amazing to watch our films reach not only an audience here in the United States but also internationally!

The Filmmakers

Combining over 25 years of film making and life experience, Michael Habernig and April Hannah, blend the mediums of film, psychotherapy, intuition and visual effects to address the questions that most people ask Why am I here? What will happen when I die? What is beyond the physical body? What is the purpose of living on earth? Is there an afterlife? What is consciousness?

Michael Habernig

Filmmaker and director of The Path Trilogy, Michael felt inspired to impact the world with a documentary on the soul's purpose, path and presence in our lives. His inspiration comes from his own soul's journey and life experiences when he was confronted with many family members who had died in a short period of time. These deaths in his life, propelled him into deep study and investigation to find out answers as to what happens after we die.

Michael founded his own production company, Habernig Productions in 2000. He also has worked as a producer/director at Time Warner Cable News for 5 years in the news department and another 5 years as an editor in the advertising department. Producer

April Hannah

April has always had an interest in the metaphysical world ever since she was a young child. She grew up in a home with family members who had natural psychic abilities and hearing these stories as a child were second nature. She began having her own psychic experiences as a child which later ceased and then re-emerged again in her early twenties. It was at this point in her life when she began studying therapeutic touch, attending seminars about Angels and healing. She met with different mediums and healers who later became her mentors and taught her what she knows, practices and studies today.

April holds a Master's Degree of Science in Education from The College of Saint Rose and has been a Licensed Mental Health Counselor since 2004. She opened her own private practice, Hannah's Healing in the fall of 2007. Her approach to therapy now blends holistic studies with traditional psychotherapy techniques. ## BIOS

PHYSICISTS

Author of: My Big Toe

has since retired but was a nuclear physicist modeling the behavior of large complex systems for NASA, began researching altered states of consciousness with Bob Monroe (Journeys Out Of The Body, Far Journeys, and The Ultimate Journey) at Monroe Laboratories in the early 1970s where he and a few others were instrumental in getting Monroe's laboratory for the study of consciousness up and running. These early drug-free consciousness pioneers helped design experiments, developed the technology for creating specific altered states, and were the main subjects of study (guinea pigs) all at the same time. Tom is the "TC (physicist)" described in Bob Monroe's second book Far Journeys.

Campbell has been a serious explorer of the frontiers of reality, mind, consciousness, and psychic phenomena for the last thirty five years. Using his acquired mastery of the Out Of Body Experience as a springboard, Campbell dedicated his research toward discovering the outer boundaries, inner workings, and causal dynamics of the larger reality system. In February of 2003, Tom published the My Big TOE trilogy which represents the results and conclusions of his scientific exploration of the nature of existence. This overarching model of reality, mind, and consciousness merges physics with metaphysics, explains the paranormal as well as the normal, places spirituality within a scientific context, and provides direction for those wishing to personally experience an expanded awareness of All That Is. As a logic-based work of science, My Big TOE has no basis in belief, dogma, creed, or any unusual assumptions. By demanding high quality repeatable, empirical, evidential data to separate what's real (exists independently and externally) from what's imaginary or illusory; Campbell has scientifically derived this general model of reality.

EXPLORERS OF CONSCIOUSNESS

F. Holmes "Skip" Atwater featured in The Path: Afterlife, The Path: Beyond the Physical, The Path: Evolution

Author of: Captain of My Ship, Master of My Soul

Former President of The Monroe Institute. Raised in a spiritually oriented family environment, Skip Atwater's childhood was filled with extraordinary psychic experiences. As a young adult he was guided from within to a career as a counterspy during the cold-war era where he used his natural psychic aptitude as a U.S. Army Counterintelligence Special Agent. He played a key role in the remote viewing intelligence program now known to world by the code name STAR GATE.

For ten years Skip was the Operations and Training Officer for this secret remote-viewing program. He recruited and trained an elite cadre of professional intelligence officers to do remote viewing for the Department of Defense and various members of the national intelligence community. He planned, conducted, and reported thousands of remote viewing intelligence-collection missions.

After retiring from the Army, Skip became Research Director and more recently the President and Treasurer at The Monroe Institute a 501(c)(3) nonprofit research and educational organization, which uses the patented Hemi-Sync® auditory-guidance system to provide a safe, natural means to alter arousal states, focus, and levels of awareness.

Working in the Bob Monroe Research Lab, he has explored the realms of his own consciousness and adopted a spiritual perspective of everyday life. In his roll as Research Director, he published technical research on methods for expanding consciousness, authored the inspirational book, Captain of My Ship, Master of My Soul, and assisted hundreds of individuals in experiencing and exploring expanded states of consciousness.

Skip is also the past president of the International Remote Viewing Association (IRVA), which was organized by scientists and academicians involved in remote viewing together with veterans of the now declassified STAR GATE program. It is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit membership organization that encourages the dissemination of accurate information about remote viewing through a robust website (www.IRVA.org), regular conferences, and speaking and education outreach. Skip has also been a college instructor, scientific investigator, and human behavioral engineer specializing in the design and application of techniques for cultivating propitious states of consciousness for over three decades.

Early in the 1970s he received an associate degree from the University of New York, a baccalaureate degree from the University of Nebraska, and completed his graduate coursework in counseling psychology at the University of Northern Colorado.
